ATLANTA FALCON'S SAFETY BRYAN SCOTT UNDERGOES CUSTOM LASIK

Atlanta, GA, July 9, 2005 – Bryan Scott #24, safety for the Atlanta Falcons, chose world-renowned surgeon Dr. Jonathan Woolfson, founder & medical director of Woolfson Eye Institute (WEI), to perform his Custom LASIK procedure. Scott, whose poor vision was 20/400 before the surgery now sees 20/15, better than perfect. Additionally, WEI announces the signing of Scott as a spokesperson to enhance the multifaceted marketing campaign launched earlier in the year.

“My career depends on my ability to see and focus on the quarterback and offense. After researching and asking the Falcon’s team doctor who to go to, I was confident that Dr. Woolfson was the best and the only one to trust for my LASIK.” said Scott. “As a professional athlete, it has always been a struggle wearing contacts. LASIK has not only changed the way I play, it’s really changed my life.” added Scott.

Scott was a second round draft pick of the Falcons in 2003 out of Penn State and became a starter midway through his rookie season. He has 159 career tackles, 3 interceptions, 4 forced fumbles and 3 fumble recoveries.

Jonathan Woolfson, MD founder and Medical Director of Woolfson Eye Institute said, “I’m proud of my home team. I was thrilled to help Bryan achieve his best vision possible and now I’m even more excited to have him on our team.” He then added in jest, “We will also gladly accept all the credit for him leading the NFL in interceptions this coming year.”
