WOOLFSON EYE INSTITUTE DONATES PERCENTAGE OF PROFITS TO HURRICANE KATRINA RELIEF
Leading Atlanta Business Challenges Others to Follow Suit

ATLANTA, GA, September 1, 2005 – In support of the disaster relief efforts to victims of Hurricane Katrina, Woolfson Eye Institute (WEI), the leading LASIK provider in the Southeast, will donate ten dollars, up to $250,000, for every new LASIK patient at any of their ten LASIK centers. The donations, which will be made from July through December 2005, will go to the American Red Cross' Hurricane 2005 Relief.

Area eye doctors who recommend Woolfson Eye Institute to their patients have expressed support of WEI's Hurricane Relief efforts. Additionally, Dr. Jonathan Woolfson, Founder and Medical Director of WEI, is issuing a "Woolfson Eye Challenge" by inviting others in the healthcare community, local businesses and even his previous patients to participate. "It's times like these that test our resolve as a nation," said Dr. Woolfson. "We of course are saddened by the tragic loss and look forward to providing much needed help to the victims and survivors," he added.

About Woolfson Eye Institute

Headquartered in Atlanta, GA, Woolfson Eye Institute (WEI) is the leading provider of LASIK and referral ophthalmic services in the Southeast, with state-of-the-art surgery centers in Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee. Founded by Jonathan Woolfson, M.D., who is widely acknowledged as a pioneer in LASIK having performed more than 60,000 procedures including those of Atlanta Falcons safety Bryan Scott #24, Olympic Gold Medalist Vanetta Flowers and PGA and Senior PGA Tour veteran Hale Irwin. He's also the first choice of over 300 eye doctors from around the world who chose him to perform their own LASIK.
